ABOUT ME

I've always been a great problem solver, loyal, an extrovert, and a technophile obsessed with the latest devices. After a college education in the economy department and continuing to work as a human resources manager, I realized software development was the right field for me. Since then, I've dedicated my time to learn and work on some projects which you can see on my portfolio site and GitHub page. I'm familiar with some programming languages, including JavaScript, HTML, CSS, ReactJS, NextJS but I'm always adding new skills to my repertoire.
